THE NEW PREMIER and HIS COLLEAGUES

Doubtless, the most conspicuous and "suggestive" feature in the list of the new Cabinet Ministers is the name of Lord Palmerston as again the head of a Government, and of a Government containing the names of some who for years have been widely dissenting from him, and of others who may almost be said to have been acting as persecutors. That Lord Palmerston should have come again to the top so soon and amid such circumstances, is an amazing case of buoyancy. Remembering such things as the China War and the Walewski Despatch and, even more, the vague but loud clamor kept up against him for years past, it appears indeed a wonderful thing to see him the colleague and leader, not merely of Lord John Russell, but of Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Milner Gibson, and still more the head of a Ministry uniting in its favor the suffrages of the entire Liberal party in Parliament and in the country. Yet it is not wonderful—the real wonder is as to the past, not the present, as to why the clamor was got up and kept up, not as to why it has subsided. It had no basis of facts. "He is a man," said Mr. Roebuck on the night of the division, "who has kept the world in combustion ever since he has been in power." This is a fair specimen of the sort of thing that many people have kept saying for 20 years; but after having been said for 20 years, there should now be something to show for it in the form of fact. The history of Europe shows during that time two wars—one in which this country was engaged, the other (now in progress) between her neighbors and allies; but at neither period had Lord Palmerston the management of our foreign affairs. During the many years he had that management, no such calamities occurred; during the very few years in which the management was entrusted to others, these calamities did occur. Yet a cry is got up that Lord Palmerston is a bogtrotter of quarrelling and fighting; and that the peace of Europe is safer, with any other statesman. In the general tenor of his policy, Lord Palmerston, may have given offence to other governments; but he has made the British Government powerful and respected. In what has been generally regarded as his most questionable procedure, the demand upon Greece in 1850, Mr. Roebuck himself was his most zealous vindicator; and as to being in bad odor at some foreign Courts, the best answer is in the still unretreated words of Lord Derby's colleague, Sir Bulwer Lytton—"who hateth England hateth him the most. As to more recent accusations, and especially that which upset the Palmerston Ministry two years ago, we would stir the ashes no more than to bring out the fact that alleged "trucking to France" was scarcely made use of in the late debates and was somewhat more than disused by those having the best right to employ it. Mr. Milner Gibson, who moved the famous resolution upsetting the Palmerston Government, gave last week his reason for desiring a new Ministry, of which he knew Lord Palmerston must of necessity be a member, that "he held the French alliance—he did not mean a treaty alliance—but friendly relations and a good understanding with France—to be of all things the most important to the welfare and happiness of this country; and he was utterly averse to the system of putting an unnecessarily unfavorable construction upon the acts of the French Government." And Lord John Russell, himself a supporter of Mr. Gibson's resolution, declared that the part taken by the Derbyites in that vote—that is, the part taken by five-sixths of those who voted with Lord John in the division which destroyed the Palmerston Government—was "not only factions, but treacherous." Truly, the "whirlwind of time brings around its revenges." But no revenge ought to be claimed or inflicted. In the course of events, on an honorable understanding and for worthy purposes, some who have said hard things of one another have been brought into co-operation; and the prediction may be safely ventured that whatever the history and fate of the new Palmerston Ministry, such of its members as still remain in any degree in the gall of bitterness will learn to regard their head with better feelings, because better knowledge than they even now begin with. —Scotsman.

VICTORIA. V. I.
MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 20.
INTELLIGENCE FROM THE MINES.

Advices from all parts of British Columbia incline to the conclusion that a larger amount of gold dust will be taken out between now and winter than within the same period at any time heretofore. We may consequently expect business to improve in a corresponding degree. One gratifying feature in the mining news is the discovery at Hill's Bar of a stratum of pay dirt ten feet below that now worked. It prospects from ten to fifteen cents to the pan. This is hailed as an undeniable evidence of the existence of deep diggings, which many have so pertinaciously doubted affirming that the only gold deposit in the country was scattered lightly over the surface. From the incentive which this will give the miners, we may naturally expect other discoveries of deep diggings along the bars below Yale. In fact it has already raised the price of claims from a nominal value to an extravagant sum. From Fort Alexander the discovery of rich diggings is so far confirmed that small quantities of coarse gold dust from that locality have been received at Douglas and other points. Still we view the intelligence from that quarter as greatly exaggerated, unintentionally perhaps, but still exaggerated by that strange credulity known only to gold countries.

Our advices still bring loud complaints against the absentee officials of the colony. Many of them appear to be well founded; the judiciary come in for a full share. It is certainly an anomalous condition of things to live in one colony, and be paid for official services by another. Howmuchsover we may desire to see Victoria the seat of government for both colonies, if it can be done with advantage to each, still we cannot but consider the absence of officials from their post as justly reprehensible.

We have time and again resorted to the necessity for disarming the Indians. Yesterday evening over at the Songish village an occurrence took place showing the danger which is incurred by allowing savages to have in their possession fire arms. Two gentlemen passing one of their houses saw an Indian threatening to shoot a squaw. They attempted to stop him, when he turned and snapped a revolver first at one and then at the other, but it failing to go off he instantly decamped.

It is reported, apparently on good authority, that a contract has been made by the Cunard company with the Imperial Government to convey the English mails via Panama to Australia; and in addition to have a branch line to carry the mails to Langley via San Francisco, and Victoria. If true, and we hope it is, the ocean steamers will no doubt stop here, and forward the mails by smaller boats to Langley.

ASSAY OFFICE.—An Assay office, what has long been wanted, has been established in Yates Street, by Messrs. Marchand & Co., well known as assayers in California. This is another evidence of the confidence of practical men in the durability of our resources; and will no doubt prove materially to the advantage of dealers in gold dust.

The Forwood sailed for San Francisco yesterday at 6 P. M., with 50 passengers, and $9,800 in gold dust shipped by Wells, Fargo & Co.

SAN JUAN MEMORIAL.—The memorial of the British inhabitants of Victoria to Her Majesty's Government in relation to San Juan, has been very numerous signed, considering the limited time between the meeting and the sailing of the Forwood. Over two hundred signatures were attached to it up to Saturday afternoon, when it was placed in the hands of His Excellency the Governor, to be forwarded to England. Had it been circulated through the town and country the number of signatures would have been largely increased. Want of space induces us to defer its publication till our next issue.

AWFUL ACCIDENT.—It was with deep regret the numerous friends and acquaintances of Mr. Samuel Hazeltine, formerly Chief Engineer of the H. B. C. Steamship Louchere, and now Inspector of Steamboat Boilers, learned that he met with a most fearful accident on Friday morning, by having his leg broken below the knee,—the shin bone protruding from the flesh. How the accident occurred is still unknown, as he was insensible when discovered at his residence, and he has not since recovered sufficiently to explain. He is now at the Royal Hospital, under the care of Dr. Trimble.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE FROM THE MINES.

New Westminster, August 27, 1859.
The steamer Gov. Douglas and Col. Moody arrived this evening about 5 o'clock the former from Port Hope, the latter from Douglas. The news they bring from the mines is of a most cheering character.

Fort Alexander Diggings.

The mines are proving very rich; in fact so much so that letters have been received at Douglas from merchants in that neighborhood, stating that they have abandoned merchandizing and taken up the pick and shovel. Miners are making from $10 to $50 per day. I have seen some of the gold. It is coarse and very much like the gold on the middle fork of the American River, California. The town of Port Douglas is assuming quite a business-like appearance, but there is great necessity for the Government to make immediate provision for the growing business of that town, which from its position is destined ere long to rank high as an inland city.

At present there are no facilities for the landing of goods from the steamers and the owners of steamboats and merchants are loud in their complaints. The latter are willing to build wharfs but are debarred from doing so in consequence of presumed grants having been given by the Government. This inconvenience to the public should be remedied. The Government should immediately do something to improve the navigation of Harrison River. If it is not done soon the navigation will be closed for steamers this season; whereas by a small outlay of money the channel could be kept open at all seasons, so that there would be water sufficient for the well adapted steamers that now ply on the river. If the improvement is not made soon a heavy tax will be imposed for transporting by boats the large amount of goods that is weekly sent to Douglas, all of which falls upon the industrious miner, besides delay to traders.

Fort Hope Mines.

The miners in and about Fort Hope are doing well and the traders are again assuming a cheerful countenance. They are sending liberal orders to your city for goods and in many instances what is better accompanied with the "dinero."

New diggings have been discovered on Hills and Emory's Bar. On the former a strata of earth about 10 feet below where it has been already worked, has been discovered through digging a race to wash the back dirt. It is yielding far better than the upper strata, the heavy stones having in many places been cleared and worked off last year. A far larger harvest is anticipated. The new strata prospects from 10 to 15 cents. Claims are worth ten times as much as they were two weeks ago.

Mules Wanted.

One great drawback which is experienced both at Hope and Douglas is the want of mules to transport freight. 1000 more mules than are now in the country could be profitably employed. What are the Oregonians about?

Storm Browning.

The tempest which is gathering will soon burst over the head of a distinguished official in British Columbia who is charged with making himself obnoxious to the mercantile community.

VIATOR.

MAN O' WAR GOING NORTH.—Much anxiety has been expressed by the wives and friends of those who left here under Maj. Downie on the Island Queen, for Queen Charlotte's Island, as to their safety and the success of the expedition, inasmuch as a man o' war was not sent up with the expedition for their protection. The boundary dispute, which caused the detention of all the fleet here, having subsided, we learn that the government will dispatch a man o' war to Queen Charlotte's forthwith.

ARRIVALS FROM FRASER.—The Eliza Anderson arrived yesterday with about 15 passengers, the Expresses, and nearly $20,000 in dust. The news from the mines is encouraging. Gold was arriving at Douglas from Fort Alexander.

The Beaver arrived a little later than the Anderson with six passengers including Col. Moody.

A Sapper and Miner named Jones fell overboard at Westminster, from the Beaver on Saturday night and was drowned.

TO CAMBIST.

Editor of British Colonist:

From "Cambist's" letter it would seem that because United States' coins are most numerous here at present, he contemplates adherence to their use, and adoption of them by the Government.

Let me however dispossess the public of the idea that either of these contingencies will result from the temporary profusion of foreign coin in these Colonies.

Firstly—As the law of England prohibits the use of any other coin but that of Her Majesty's mints, as a legal tender in any part of the Queen's dominions except by special enactment.—

Secondly—As the Home Government, I am assured by good authority, have arranged to furnish an early supply of British coins, daily expected.—

Thirdly—As, months ago, the question of a perfect circulating medium for these Colonies was contemplated in England, and a decimal series proposed—British in its character, being based on the pound sterling for the unit, with florins tenths of the pound, and mills or thousandths of the pound, as the subordinate coins.

Admirers of a decimal notation will hail with satisfaction evidence of the forethought of the parent Government in the specie expected, and with it loyal Englishmen may rejoice in the dispersion of all such arguments as "Cambist" advances for branding the British Sovereign "an intruder" on our Sovereign's soil.

AULD REEKIE.

August 27th, 1859.

TO LOT HOLDERS AT NEW WESTMINSTER.

GENTLEMEN:—I am informed that a contract has been given out, on the recommendation of His Excellency the Governor, for a mail service between Panama and Langley calling at San Francisco and Victoria; and that steamers will run as soon as they can be got round. The existence of our city is entirely ignored. Sufficient money has been taken from us to pay the officials their salaries and we are all beautifully done. A meeting of the unfortunate victims ought to be held; and as the lots were sold to us under false pretences, and the promises made have not been carried out, I consider the contract made has been broken. If we all join to pay expenses of an action we shall get our money back. Let us therefore be firm and combine and I will guarantee that we shall have success.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

SUP.—An old settler, named John Batter, who is said to be partially deranged, was shot in the calf of the leg, but not dangerously, with a shot gun, on Saturday morning, by Mr. Sandray a Frenchman, as he was entering the yard of the latter, at the upper end of Yates street. Mr. Sandray who is very well known as a quiet and orderly citizen, represents that Batter entered his chicken yard before daylight, and believing his intent was to rob, he fired on him. Another account states that Batter did not leave Mr. Lang's house on Broad street till after daylight. Batter states he attempted merely to cross the lot of Sandray in order to get into the country, but there was no necessity for this as the lot is small and the streets are open at each end of the lot. Sandray however, has been arrested and held to bail, whilst Batter is kept in a cell under surgical treatment.

WEEKLY TO SAN FRANCISCO.—We learn that hereafter the Forwood and Pacific Company's steamers will run between Victoria and San Francisco, so that we will have a weekly communication instead of semi-monthly as formerly. This will be a great advantage to our merchants and the travelling public. The low rate of fare and the increased facilities for communication is calculated to materially promote the prosperity of Victoria.

MILITIA.

Victoria, Vancouver's Island, August 22, 1859.

Having a small lot here and a large family, and intending for the remainder of my days to live under the old flag that has braved the battle and the breeze a thousand years and more, still waves over and protects the only constitutionally free Government on this side of the World, acknowledged so by all civilized Nations, opinions of Filibusters to the contrary notwithstanding; am prepared to shed my blood for my country, with a large and two drivers, for Artillery service; two good powder monkeys; self also to serve where any British commanding officer, authorized by proper lawful authority (and no other) who may issue orders to place me or mine for the general good, to repel any invasion of British Territory by Filibuster power or heretofore. If the gentleman, large landed proprietors on this Island who wish to protect their homes and families in earnest from the lawless acts of rowdy's, broken down gamblers, used up politicians, and State prison convicts, pardoned before their time and let loose to commerce afresh under the guise of Filibusters. (Robbing a Church or squating in a man's orchard would be fun for them.) And who may possibly think they have any Mexican grievances to play with, or a few defenceless Indians to murder, and be considered brave men by the mobocracy individuals. If you think they are coming here, and if you large landed proprietors who have the most at stake and to lose also, mean and wish to act in the matter, you will find the owners of small lots doing their pro rata of the work required. Militia service, when made, losing our time for nothing, is not wanted. When called upon, every British subject who loves his country will be at his post.

Not anticipating any trouble with the United States Government myself, still as the gentlemen of the House Assembly observe a militia corps needed, not for parade but for protection, I must say I have no objection to be used by outside whiskey peddlars. Also as good citizens they would materially assist our present police force (and as you observe, it is not a militia) by making another quicker and better, who have emigrated here from so many different parts of the globe. New Zealand and Africa especially have quantum sup represented. The Registry Bill will show the men made, the law who are the men and who are the striped pigs rooting where they are not wanted.

Gentlemen, I have seen your throat scientifically cut, don't be caught napping; there are plenty of Russian Spies here doing their work; they are being paid for finding fault with every thing British, and hint this South end of the Island is to be the next place on the list to squabulate upon. The men alluded to as spies can be found patching up old loads, living with slaves to sell whiskey to Indians, hunting for a precarious living, sheltering themselves during the summer months in brush sheds; persuading soldiers, and sailors to desert their respective having both licenses pretence to be freight carriers, being sent to the States without inquiring whether they are British subjects or not, so the great injury and damage of the British and Colonial sailor. Our Harbor Master, from long experience as Shipping Master in San Francisco, ought to be aware that he must be an American citizen to be Captain of a coasting or boat, or sailing for in American waters. Let no man coast as have license who is not a subject of the government; since for the goose ought to be saved for the gambler. Attend to the rights of Britons and colonists and they will attend to the call of duty.

P. S. The right men must be in the right place.—Gov. Douglas's Speech. aug25

An editor being out of town one night, and the hotel in which he resided being crowded with guests, the obliging landlord put an importunate guest into the editor's room. But mark how the ungrateful fellow requited the hospitable kindness thus extended to him; he left the following lines on the table, scrawled upon a piece of paper with lead pencil:

"I slept in an editor's bed last night,
And others may say what they please;
I say there's one editor in the world
That certainly takes his ease,
When I thought of my humble cot far away,
I could not suppress a sigh,
But thought, as I rolled in the feathered nest,
How easy editors lie."

Bassompierre, the French Ambassador to Spain, was relating to Henry IV., the particulars of his entry into Madrid.

"I was mounted, he said, on the smallest mule in the world."

"Ah!" exclaimed the King, "what an amusing sight! An ass upon a mule!"

"Very good, Sir," retorted Bassompierre, "I was your Majesty's representative."

"Charlie, my dear," said a loving mother to her hopeful son, just budding into breeches, "Charlie, my dear, come here and get some candy."

"I guess I won't mind it now, mother," replied Charlie, "I've got in some tobacco."

The Rev. Dr. C., of Boston, said once, in answer to a pater noster young gentleman, who asked him:

"Pray, Doctor, what is the difference between the puseyism they talk so much about and puppyism?"

"Puppyism, sir, is founded on dogmatism, and puseyism on the catechism."

An Irish clergyman having gone to visit the portraits of the Scottish Kings in Holyrood House, observed one of the monarchs of a very youthful appearance, while his son was depicted with a long beard, and wore the traits of extreme old age.

"Santa Maria," exclaimed the good Hibernian, "is it possible that this gentleman was an old man when his father was born?"
